War's Greatest Hero Faces Being Turned Out of Home, but Refuses to Commercialize His Patriotism and Pay Off the Mortgage

PAID, MALE, TENN., July 12.—If you were living in one of the finest farms in Tennessee—
If you had a wife and three months old baby dependent upon you—
If you faced losing your farm through foreclosure of a $12,500 mortgage—
You would be the greatest hero of the world war.

AND—
You could make possibly enough to pay off the mortgage merely by shooting yourself in public—
WOULD YOU?

That is the question that Sergeant Alvin C. York has to face. The answer is "No." He will not commercialize his patriotism. His sense of obligation to his country and his religious scruples prevent.

It would be a bitter loss to him, a common day laborer, to be turned out of the home which was only made possible by an act of Providence.

How York Won Great Honor.

That "act of Providence" made the red-headed sergeant famous as the war's greatest hero, not only through his shooting in public but also through his patriotism.

On October 18, 1918, in the Argonne Forest, York single-handedly killed 13 Germans, put out of commission 25 machine guns and marched into camp 132 German captives.

For his feat he won the Congressional medal of honor and the Croix de Guerre, pinned on by Marshal Foch himself.

Shooting home and vaudeville offers that would have made him rich, he has turned them down.

A short time later he married a girl of the neighborhood. Friends and relatives are now busy with the wedding.

But such good fortune was not to last.

Crop Failure Spells Disaster.

Crops were a big disappointment. Farm products brought exceptionally low prices.

With the $12,500 mortgage for the balance on his farm due this fall, York is in a tight place.

Yes, it is a tight place. But York is not a man to be defeated.

He is a man who has won the Congressional medal of honor and the Croix de Guerre.

DE VALERA TO MEET BRITISH PREMIER ALONE TOMORROW

First Peace Conference at Home of Lloyd George

LONDON, July 13.—The first meeting between Mr. De Valera, leader of the Irish Free State, and Mr. Lloyd George, British premier, will be held at 10 Downing street, the prime minister's official residence, it was announced at Downing street today.

It was understood that the conference is to be between the two men alone.

Final preparations for the meeting were being made today by the government.

It was thought possible that General J. J. Smith, member of the House of Commons, would play a very definite role in the negotiations.

General Smith has been considered the man chiefly responsible for the rapid development of peace talks in Ireland, and late last week it was said he might act as temporary mediator.

The meeting is expected to be a very important one.

James M. Cox in Party of Editors Calling on Harding

WASHINGTON, July 13.—James M. Cox, a newspaper publisher of Dayton, Ohio, was a caller at the white house today when a high backed "editorial chair," presented to President Harding by more than six hundred fellow newspaper editors, was added to the furnishings of the presidential study.

The chair was made of wood from the famous old schooner Revenge, captured from the British on Lake Champlain during the Revolutionary war and was presented through a committee headed by Ernest F. Birmingham of The Fourth Estate.

Senator Capper of Kansas, publisher of the Topeka Capital, was selected to make the presentation speech in behalf of the committee of seventy-five which came to the white house.

WOMAN HELD FOR FORGING T. R.'S NAME

Arrested Following Claim of $69,000 Against Estate

HILLSDALE, Ind., July 13.—Mrs. Emma Burckett, of Hillside, was arrested here early this afternoon on a charge of forging preferred against her in New York by George E. Roosevelt, executor of the estate of the late Theodore Roosevelt.

Mrs. Burckett had presented a claim to the estate of the former president for $69,000 on a note which she declared he had endorsed. She was removed to Newport, Ind.

USE OF "COL" LED TO FORGERY SUSPICION

NEW YORK, July 13.—The use of the abbreviation "Col." in what purported to be the signature of the late Theodore Roosevelt is one of the reasons for the preferring of a charge of forgery against Mrs. Emma Burckett.

Assistant District Attorney DeLoach of New York, who has been investigating the matter in behalf of the Roosevelt family, said today that members of the family told him the "Col." never used the title in his signature.

Investigation also revealed Mrs. Burckett said that Mr. Roosevelt went without sleep for 11 consecutive hours while in Chicago in 1912.

That members of the family were with him throughout that period and that none of them saw him sign a document of any kind. Search of records of the Roosevelt family failed to disclose and Charles J. Shinn, Mr. Burckett's lawyer.

Robinson, who was in the cab with Engineer Hohlman probably 20 minutes before the boiler of the engine exploded and the engineer's body was found, has returned to El Paso. He is on a $1,000 bond, given after a preliminary trial at Marfa.

To Go Back To Work
Robinson, still suffering from a laceration in his head, and bruises on his body received when he fell or was thrown off the train four miles from where the explosion occurred, expects to go back to work on the same run within the next few days, he said.

C. E. Murphy, superintendent of the road at El Paso, said he could get his job back whenever he wanted it, and that the railroad officials were through with their investigation and would not let the case be charged with a crime interfer with his employment.

As for Hohlman, the superintendent said he was not arrested at the scene of the explosion, but was charged with a crime interfer with his employment.
